A Message From Michele

Hello Everyone!

As we transition to fall, there is something special about this time of year. School is back in session, football season is underway, and soon the leaves will begin to change. It is a season filled with familiar traditions, fresh starts, and new possibilities.

This time of year also gives us an opportunity to reflect on the value of work and the important role it plays in our lives. Meaningful work can provide more than a paycheck. It can build confidence, create connections, provide a sense of purpose, and open doors to greater independence. Through Goodwill programs like Supported Employment and Launchpad, individuals are building skills, gaining experience, and working toward goals that are meaningful to them. I am also incredibly grateful for our Goodwill team, whose hard work and dedication every day make our mission possible.

And so much of that opportunity begins with you. Every bag of clothing, box of household goods, or item you no longer need helps fuel our mission. Your donations give items a second life while helping create opportunities for people in our community.

As the seasons change, thank you for donating, shopping, and supporting our mission. Together, we are helping people live, work, and thrive.

With Gratitude,

Michele Harris

President & CEO

Mission in Motion

September is Workforce Development Month

National Workforce Development Month is a special time to recognize the professionals, programs, and partnerships that help individuals build skills, secure employment and advance their careers. As one of the nation's largest nonprofit providers of workforce development services, the importance of this month is especially appreciated by Goodwill's Supported Employment program participants and team members.

For more than 50 years, right here in South Central Wisconsin, our stores and the sale of generously donated items has powered the Goodwill mission to provide job training, career services and support for people with disabilities and barriers to employment build brighter futures.

This month and every month, Goodwill remains committed to helping individuals overcome barriers and turn obstacles into opportunities for those we serve.

Celebrating Our Team

September RISE Award Recipient

This month we recognize Bryan, Facilities Technician, for Empathy! Bryan recently noticed a coworker was dealing with a flat tire and, without hesitation, stopped to help. He took the time to put on a spare tire, allowing his coworker to get back to their day without the added stress. Bryan's willingness to lend a helping hand is just one example of the kindness and care he shows others. He consistently provides thoughtful customer service, communicates well, and takes the time to make sure people feel supported. Congrats, Bryan!
